

Brogssitter – 400 years of fine wines

Brogssitter

The Ambassador of Good Wine

Since 1600

One of Germany’s leading wine houses, Brogssitter is a family business proud of its independence and dedicated to its rich heritage. With its roots in the Ahr River Valley since 1600, Brogssitter is a premium German winery. Hans-Joachim Brogssitter oversees operations today, balancing modern, sophisticated and cutting-edge technology with the valued wine-making techniques passed down through family generations. With more than 400 years of wine-making tradition behind the name, Brogssitter has the knowledge and ability to consistently craft the finest wines.

Sourcing the best makes the best

Brogssitter’s wine-making is still based in the picturesque Ahr Valley on the western banks of the Rhine, among the most beautiful landscapes in Germany. The Ahr region, south of Cologne near the iconic Moselle wine-growing area, produces grapes of exceptional character, quality and velvety elegance, such as its flagship Pinot Noirs.

Brogssitter's award-winning wine-makers also venture further afield to source the very best varietal grapes from across Germany. This enhances the range of classic wines under the Brogssitter label, including Riesling grapes from the steep slopes of the Moselle River and its tributaries, and Germany's own 'invention' – Dornfelder grapes, from the largest and oldest wine region in the nation, Rhine-Hesse ... plus many more.

Innovation and state-of-the-art ideas go hand-in-hand with centuries-old tradition at Brogssitter, opening new markets and reaching out across new horizons. Over 150 years ago Peter Josef Hubert Brogssitter was the first to export German wines to the USA, and today their wines can be found in many countries around the world.

“Gasthaus Sanct Peter” – A gourmet experience within ancient walls

Brogssitter’s wines are more than body, aroma and flavour, and the art of exquisite food matched with fine wine has been perfected by one of the oldest and most awarded guest houses in Germany, Brogssitter's “Sanct Peter” (St Peter). Welcoming guests within its ancient walls since 1246, this is a true gastronomic jewel of the Ahr Valley, and a highlight of any visit to the region.
